Abstract:
This dissertation aims to find answers within the field of social awareness. The question that needs to be answered is, are advertising campaigns the most effective medium when it comes to social awareness in Pakistan. In order to do that, we will be looking at international campaigns running parallel to national campaigns. From there we will go onto discussing theatre as an alternate means of spreading social awareness and assess what medium is better suited for a country like Pakistan.